FIGHT AT PROVO HAS ONLY BEGUN

Prohibitionists Are Not Dismayed

By the Turn of Affairs in Halliday Case.

MORE DETERMINED THAN EVER

Active Workers Express Themselves in Characteristic Style and Pledge Themselves to Keep Up War.

(Special to The News)

Provo, April 12.—J. Challen Smith, when seen in regard to the saloon situation, said: "This was just a skirmish. Arrangements have been made to raise a large sum of money for the enforcement of the law. We now know what we are up against when witnesses are bought off and sent outside of the state. There is no disposition on our part to give up the contest."

President Joseph E. Keeler—Prohibition is right and will prevail. We will go ahead and not give up on account of such reverses. We have learned something and the other side will learn something too.

W. C. Royance—I am strongly in favor of enforcing the law. I still believe that prohibition is a good thing for the town. If a man robs a train and escapes it is no reason for not attempting to stop train robbers.

R. E. Allen—I am in favor of enforcing the prohibition law as long as it is part of the ordinance. If the majority of the people are opposed to it I think that the ordinance ought to be repealed. But as long as the majority is not, I think that it ought to be enforced. We can not do as well as we could with state-wide prohibition but I believe in going ahead the best we can under the present conditions.

J. H. Friday—I don't believe in lying down. We can't get state-wide prohibition, but we can get local option and we ought to fight for that.

D. H. Thomas—This is not a matter of money for the city, it is a matter of morals, and I feel more determined than ever. We have a stubborn foe and will have to keep the fight up.

O. W. Andelin—Why are we going to close them up, of course. That's all there is to it.

POTATO CULTURE.

L. C. Corbett, Horticulturist at Washington, Tells of Development.

As an illustration of what is being done along just one line of horticulture by the department at Washington, a summary of a letter recently received by D. E. Burley, G. P. A. of the Oregon Short Line from L. C. Corbett, horticulturist at Washington, relative to potato culture, will be of interest to the farmers generally of Utah.

Our outside consists of 900 varieties of American and European grown tubers, together with 250 varieties imported from Chile some two years ago. In addition we have 150 different types of Chilean seedlings grown last year, and we are now growing what we believe to be the first true hybrid potatoes. Our Professor Stewart last year made nearly 500 crosses of different potatoes. He was successful and had 40,000 seedlings growing to be potted and transplanted to the field. He will be set out in the field in May. From these we expect a number of promising new varieties, and will place a number of the seedlings with the various state experimental stations, and with parties interested in potato culture, and throughly add to the potato growing enterprise of the country.

In a less extended way we are attempting to solve growing of cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and spinach. "Just at present Prof. Stewart is in California looking after the disinfection of the seed potatoes handled by Mr. Shima, the Japanese potato king of America, who last year grew 12,000 acres of potatoes. There are 70,000 bushels of seed which will come under our inspection in Mr. Shima's enterprise this year."

At the time the foregoing letter was written, L. C. Corbett of Colorado, who is well known in Utah as an enthusiastic horticulturist, was visiting the experimental farm at Washington, preparing to leave for Europe, where he is at present studying potato growing and potato pests, and in a few weeks will return to this section with a fund of important knowledge on the subject to be given out gratis to the farmers of the remarkable potato states of Utah, Idaho and Colorado.

LABORATORY APPARATUS HERE

Apparatus for the city's new bacteriological laboratory has arrived and is being installed in the office to be occupied by Dr. J. W. Treman, city veterinarian, in the room just north of the city treasurer's office in the John C. McElroy building. The apparatus includes a microscope of high quality, an incubator and sterilizer, and other paraphernalia for the bacteriological laboratory. It is the intention of Dr. Treman to make all of the bacteriological tests of milk for the food and dairy commission in the future, as this is regarded as the only perfect test of milk.
